

A Stylish Suit Well Made

puts a fellow in good humor and gives him the "home-run" feeling that leads to success.

STYLEPLUS CLOTHES $17 are made of pure wool or pure wool and silk fabrics. They are fashioned in strictly correct manner. The haircloth and canvas are tailored with the same care as the parts of the coat you see. High grade workmanship is applied throughout.

If your next suit is a STYLEPLUS you will smile. You will then be cured of the expensive habit of paying high prices for your clothes.

This is the only STYLEPLUS store.

BUSINESS' COLLEGE READY TO SHAPE UP QUINTET

With Nine Veterans as a Team Nucleus, Prospects of State Championship Are Glitterings.

First practice of the Albuquerque Business college basketball squad will be held at the high school gymnasium this week. Ed Dornan, all-southwestern star and a University of New Mexico player, will be one of the new members. The captain and manager will be elected when the team is organized. D. R. Martin, of the University of Arkansas, will coach.

With nine veterans and a good batch of green material, the A. B. C. prospects for the championship of the state are bright.

Besides Dornan the business college will have three old players to pick from. Frank Spitz, who formerly played with the University of New Mexico, George Nieher, who wore an A. B. C. uniform last year, Bob White, who has served on both the business college and high school squads. Ray Lovell also has had experience at the business college and Notre Dame. Bob Miller, who tossed his sets for the business college, and Anthony Colucci, H. Ricketts, who put in two years on the courts in Washington, D. C., and X. Basa, a New Mexico Normal university star.

The girls' team of the business college, which was credited with a draw with the Silver City Normals for the 1914 state title, will have several of its strong players in the lineup again. The following girls, who played on the business college and high school teams are eligible for the team:

Anne Myers, Helen Wickham, Nellie Seitzer, Ollie Franklin, Lucy Bea, Florence Thelin, Mabel Phillips, Mary Corrano, Ruby Donaldson, who played with the Winslow, Ariz. high school.
